

DAVID WOOLNER

David B. Woolner is Senior Fellow and Hyde Park Resident Historian of the Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt Institute, Senior Fellow of the Center for Civic Engagement at Bard College, and Associate Professor of History and Political Science at Marist College. He is the author of Searching for Cooperation in a Troubled World: Cordell Hull, Anthony Eden and Anglo-American Cooperation, 1933-1938, forthcoming from Praeger Press. He is co-editor with John M. Thompson of Progressive Politics in America: Past, Present and Future, forthcoming from Oxford University Press; with Warren Kimball and David Reynolds of FDR's World: War, Peace and Legacies (Palgrave, 2008); with Henry Henderson of FDR and the Environment (Palgrave, 2005); and with Richard Kurial of FDR, the Vatican and the Roman Catholic Church in America, 1933-1945 (Palgrave, 2003). He is also the editor of The Second Quebec Conference Revisited: Waging War, Formulating Peace; Canada, Great Britain and the United States in 1944-1945 (Palgrave/St. Martin's Press, 1998). He has been Visiting Associate Professor of History at Bard College and remains a member of the faculty of the Bard Prison Initiative. He serves on the Editorial Board of the International History Review, and has been an Archives Bi-Fellow at Churchill College, Cambridge, and held the Fulbright Distinguished Research Chair at the Roosevelt Study Center in Middelburg, the Netherlands, where he remains an Honorary Fellow. He holds an MA and PhD from McGill University, and a BA, summa cum laude, from the University of Minnesota.